GESIS PANEL USER CONFERENCE

March 11-12, 2019
Mannheim, Germany

We are pleased to announce the first GESIS Panel User Conference taking place from 11-12 March 2019 at the University of Mannheim. Our goal is to bring together researchers from various disciplines to discuss their work with the GESIS Panel data and foster international collaborations.

The GESIS Panel offers the academic community from different research fields a unique opportunity to collect and analyze primary data within a probability-based mixed-mode access panel. For more details, please see <http://www.gesis-panel.org/>.

The GESIS Panel User Conference will showcase research that uses data from the GESIS Panel (exclusively or in conjuncture with other data). It aims to promote the exchange and cooperation between data users, data producers and data providers. Further, the conference intends to show how high quality data can enable well-founded scientific research.

How to submit an abstract:

We encourage proposals from researchers with a variety of backgrounds. Abstracts (max. 500 words) or full papers should be submitted via email to gesis-panel@gesis.org by 1 November 2018. Please provide the title of the (working) paper, author names, and affiliations with your abstract. Presentations referring to work-in-progress papers are encouraged. You will receive acceptance notification by 30 November 2018.

GESIS Panel Young Researcher Award

We would also like to encourage students to present their work with the GESIS Panel data.

Therefore, please submit your bachelor or master thesis in which you used the GESIS Panel data via email to gesis-panel@gesis.org. Students can present their work at the conference. The best work will be awarded 500€.

Registration

Registration for the conference opens 30 November 2018. There are no registration fees.

The conference starts on Monday, 11 March at 14:00 and ends on Tuesday, 12 March at 12:00. Monday evening a conference dinner will take place for which you can also register at the registration opening (costs for the conference dinner must be borne by the participants).

For further questions and information please contact gesis-panel@gesis.org.

We look forward to receiving your abstract.
